

YOGAPEBBLES CHILDREN'S YOGA DATA PROTECTION NOTICE

At YogaPebbles we respect the privacy of the children and families attending classes. The information that is collected about you and your child is to ensure appropriate communication can be made with you, and adaptations and allowances can be shown and given in classes.

Any personal information that is collected is kept secure and is deleted after your child discontinues their time at YogaPebbles. We will use the contact details you have provided to contact you by phone for emergency purposes. We may phone or email you about your child, classes, news and events at YogaPebbles children's yoga. You have the right to decline being contacted for these reasons.

We will only share personal information about you or your child if:

- We have a safeguarding concern, or;
- We wish to use a supplier to enable online bookings for classes or issue invoices, or;
- We have obtained prior permission from you.
- You have the right to ask to see the data held about you and your child. You are asked on registration if you wish to be contacted by email and phone and whether you agree for promotional photographs of your child and family members to be shared on our website and other social media platforms. You can amend these permissions following discussion with us and ask for the data/photographs to be deleted.
- However, we have a statutory duty for insurance purposes to retain some data such as accidents, attendance records, safeguarding concerns and any records of complaints for a period of time. More information on this can be found in our Data Protection policy which is available on request and is reviewed every two years.
- Please sign and date below to confirm you have read and understood how we collect your data, the reasons for this and how it is stored.
